Glucose is usually present in solid form as a monohydrate with a closed pyran ring (dextrose hydrate). In aqueous solution, on the other hand, it is an open-chain to a small extent and is present predominantly as α - or β -pyranose, which interconvert (see mutarotation). From aqueous solutions, the three known forms can be crystallized: α -glucopyranose, β -glucopyranose and β -glucopyranose ...
