This is a critical look at the book, "Earth: In the Beginning," by Eric N. Skousen, Ph.D. The book is written from an LDS-scientific perspective and is interesting and informative, but wrong in many instances, in my opinion. My comments begin "in the beginning" and continue on in a linear fashion, starting with the Author's Preface.

Modern flat Earth belief originated with the English writer Samuel Rowbotham (1816–1884). Based on conclusions derived from the Bedford Level experiment, Rowbotham published a pamphlet Zetetic Astronomy. He later expanded this into the book Earth Not a Globe, proposing the Earth is a flat disc centred at the North Pole and bounded along its southern edge by a wall of ice, Antarctica.
